programme overview

Aspiring Heads of Volunteering

“This much needed programme within the profession is an exciting opportunity for anyone looking to move into strategic volunteering leadership and take that next step as a Head of Volunteering.

It’s been developed by experts in leadership development and in volunteering, who have also been on this journey personally.

This will be extremely beneficial for anyone lucky enough to be part of it.”

Julie Meredith

Associate Director of

“This is a great programme for anyone looking to move into strategic volunteer leadership or into a Head of Volunteering role.

Charlotte and Helen have vast experience in volunteering leadership and development across many organisations, and together, as great trainers and facilitators, that’s a winning combination. This will also be fun!

I recommend this learning to anyone who wants to develop their volunteering leadership skills.”
